

Preparation of a report on New Own Resources for the European Union Budget

At Global Redistribution Advocate, we understand that the European Union should explore innovative sources of revenue to finance its common objectives and create incentives for stakeholders to align with EU policy goals. The urgency of repaying NextGenerationEU creates a window of opportunity that can be seized to ultimately strengthen the EU's long-term budgetary sustainability. In this context, and in the absence of unanimous support among Member States, reframing the debate and building momentum for new own resources will be essential to break the deadlock. We have identified six mechanisms of interest that could attract broad support among EU Member States. Each proposal will be developed by one or two experts as follows:

- Financial transaction tax : Gunther Capelle-Blancard [1, 2, 3, 4, 5]
- Extension of CBAM to aviation : Elena Schneider (I4CE)
- Complementary taxes on airline tickets : Matthias Kakuhl & Lennart Stern [6, 7, 8]
- Increased VAT on luxury goods : Matthias Kakuhl & Lennart Stern
- Taxation of wealth : Adrien Fabre [9, 10]
- Fossil corporate income tax : Giulia Varaschin (International Tax Observatory)

Each proposal will be presented in a concise and engaging format, with additional details provided in the annexes. Economic justification and detailed analysis of the distributional effects across Member States will be used as the basis for evaluating the viability of each proposal. Potential revenues will be estimated on the basis of a detailed assessment at Member State level. We will account for existing national-level policies and relevant EU legislation to gauge institutional support, while a review of existing surveys on public opinion will complete the political feasibility assessment. The robustness of the proposal against criticism will be strengthened by identifying common objections and addressing them.

Throughout the drafting process, feedback from Global citizen will be sought. By mid-August, we expect any revisions to be limited to minor and cosmetic changes, with the final report expected by the end of the month.

We would be very pleased to work on this and, in this respect, we are pleased to quote a total fee of €16,000 for the assignment. This amount is based on

- €2,000 for the drafting of each annex
- €4,000 for Global Redistribution Advocate for coordination and consolidation of the overall report
